

POLITICS ON THE RHINE.

The New Treaty With Russia Ratified by the Reichstag.

The Conservatives Very Bitter Over the Government's Victory—An Increase in the Export Trade Expected to Be the First Effect of the Treaty. The Fight Over Silver.

(Copyright, 1894, by the United Press.) Berlin, March 17.—The ratification of the Russo-German treaty by the Reichstag has left the government complacent and the conservatives bitter. The men who led the opposition in the fight against the new grain tariff do not acknowledge that they have been permanently defeated, but threaten ultimately to bring the chancellor to terms. They began banking accounts by amending the minor budgetary proposals in nearly every parliamentary sitting.

MIQUEL'S SCHEME A TARGET.
The most conspicuous target of the defeated groups is undoubtedly Dr. Miquel's scheme of financial reforms. The fate of this scheme is now more uncertain than ever, in view of the fact that the proposed tax on checks and receipts has been condemned in the parliamentary committee by a vote of 19 to 10. It was supposed that whatever might befall the rest of the scheme, this tax would have a fair chance of acceptance, notably in comparison with the wine and tobacco taxes. The friends of the government admit that the action of the committee augurs ill for the whole reform. Of all the opposition the titled conservative landowning circles are the most persistent. They are little disposed to give way to the blandishments of the emperor and Dr. Miquel and return to their traditional policy of backing the chancellor against the radicals and social democrats. With the conservatives, however, the whole financial scheme must be recast or thrown over, and the imperial treasury must find its old condition of dependence upon the federal states.

EFFECT OF THE TREATY.
The immediate effect of the new treaty will be to boom the export trade, which has been always stagnant since the signing of the tariff war last summer. Already signs of activity are shown in the industrial centers and ports most deeply interested in the Russian grain markets. It was expected that the bourse would benefit largely. The predictions of heavy dealings in Russian securities have not been realized. On the contrary, there has been a strong reaction on recent purchases, as speculators believe no considerable business will be possible before the Reichstag obtains a decree canceling the old tariff and the prohibition of advances on Russian loans.

THE MONEY STANDARDS.
The battle of the money standards is likely to be resumed in both land and sea. The Reichstag immediately after the Easter recess. The text of the debate in the Reichstag will be Chancellor von Caprivi's announcement that the government intends to make a new issue of 20,000,000 marks in silver. Herr von Kardorff and Count von Moltke, in the Reichstag, and Dr. Arndt, in the Bundestag, will lead the attack of the bi-metallicists upon the chancellor and his proposal. They will oppose the bill on the ground that the issue should not be made before the silver commission finish their inquiry and the silver market shows some signs of returning stability. They say that under the existing currency laws of the empire, such an issue would have little or no effect upon the price of silver, and would only complicate the whole question. By the law of 1874, the amount of silver money in circulation was fixed at ten marks, or about $2.50 per head of the population. At the present time $2,000,000 marks are in circulation. The chancellor's plan is to coin the new issue out of old thalers, thus raising the amount in circulation to $4,000,000 marks, for more than 60,000,000 population. Even then the silver money per capita will be below the sum authorized by law. The conservatives and free conservatives have greatly strengthened their position and the whole silver party in and out of parliament is showing unwonted power and activity.

A WHOLE BLOCK IN FLAMES.
The Ferguson Building at Gloucester Destroyed.
Gloucester, Mass., March 17.—A fire here today originated in the rear of the Ferguson block on Rogers street, and made such headway that the whole block was soon in flames. Adjoining property was greatly damaged.

Ferguson's block was the largest in the city and was totally destroyed, only the walls standing. The occupants, being wholesale and retail dealers, carried large stocks, which will be nearly a total loss.

COXEY'S ARMY.
A Sheriff to Read the Riot Act to it on the Pennsylvania Line.
Harrisburg, Pa., March 17.—Gov. Pattison has received a telegram from J. S. Coxey of Massillon, O., leader of the "Commonwealth" army which purports marching to Washington to instruct congress. In it Coxey he has been informed that the army reaches the state line the sheriff of Green county will read the riot act to it, and he asks the governor to say whether or not his information is correct. In reply the governor says: "The sheriff of Green county knows his duty and I have no doubt will perform it to the best of his ability."

Fine Vegetables.
Sylvania, Ga., March 17.—R. T. Mills came to town yesterday, bringing with him several mammoth cabbages from the cabbage farm of John Joyner, who lives near Wood Cliff, in this county. Mr. Joyner is one of our best farmers, and for several years has been paying special attention to cabbages and collards. For the past two years he has been growing to be the champion cabbage grower of this section. Mr. Mills says this Joyner has now several acres, planted since Christmas, that are already heading, and on Sunday, March 4, Mr. Joyner and his family ate one for dinner that weighed fourteen pounds. A number of his collards will weigh twenty-five pounds to the head. Mr. Joyner does not plant for market, but takes an especial pleasure in raising fine cabbages, and distributes them freely among his neighbors.

PACKED THE JURY.
Alabama's Corrupt Federal Officials Checkmate the Government.
Birmingham, Ala., March 17.—This afternoon Judge Bruce, of the United States court today discharged the grand jury on motion of District Attorney O'Neal, who said that it had served its usefulness. Charges of corruption have been brought against certain United States officials and this jury was charged with the investigation of their affairs. It is said the jury was packed by the accused parties and that they would find no indictments.

ERIN'S PATRON SAINT.

The Green Flag Waves Over New York's City Hall.

New York, March 17.—The green flag with the seven-stringed golden harp without a crown, otherwise known as the flag of Ireland, was raised at sunrise today on a line between the staffs on which the state and municipal flags fly on the City Hall building. It is just in front of the dome, from which the stars and stripes were displayed. The green flag is the one carried by the steamboat Hazel Kirke during the naval parade last year, and which was saluted by the visiting warships.

This was glorious St. Patrick's day, and all Irish-Americans were pleased to see the green flag, together with the stars and stripes, waving side by side at the city hall. The sky was clear, the sun shone brightly, and Grand Marshal Patrick Costello says that the parade of forty-seven divisions of the Ancient Order of Hibernians this afternoon was the largest in years.

A REGIMENT AT MASS.
The Sixty-ninth regiment national guard of the state of New York, in full uniform, paraded from their armory at St. Patrick's cathedral, on Fifth avenue, this afternoon, as its annual custom. They attended high mass, which was celebrated by Archbishop Corrigan, who, at the close of the service, gave a benediction. The services in all the Roman Catholic churches in this city were largely attended today and in the afternoon the Irish-American holiday was kept up by parades, games at Jones' Woods and a foot ball match at Manhattan field. In the evening there were a number of banquets, the most notable of which was that of the Friendly Sons of St. Patrick at Delmonico's.

BROOKLYN'S MAYOR CRITICIZED.
Mayor Schieren, of Brooklyn, adhered resolutely to his position today, and no Irish flag was flying from any of the public buildings. The stars and stripes were the only banners unfurled on the city hall and county court house, but from many stores and private houses the flag was seen flying. The parade was one of the most successful, full seen in Brooklyn in years, and was reviewed from the steps of the city hall by the board of aldermen. For the first time in years both factions of the Ancient Order of Hibernians marched together. There were several banquets in Brooklyn to-night, of which the largest was that of the St. Patrick's society. This is the banquet which Mayor Schieren, contrary to custom, declined to attend. The mayor is a guest at a banquet in Buffalo.

ATLANTA CELEBRATES.
Atlanta, Ga., March 17.—St. Patrick's day was celebrated in Atlanta today by public exercises, and a street parade by the local Irish societies. High military mass was celebrated at the Catholic church, and a pangeyric was delivered by Father Hogan, of Washington, Ga. Col. Albert H. Cox delivered the oration of the day at DeGue's opera house, and at night the celebration was topped off by a big banquet at the hotel Aragon.

RATLIFF'S TRIAL.
The Case Given to the Jury—A Modification of the Accusation.

Kosciusko, Miss., March 17.—The court house was crowded this morning when Judge Campbell took his seat on the bench and the Ratliff case was resumed. Mrs. Ratliff, wife of the defendant, came into court with a lady friend and took a seat near her husband. Mrs. Jackson, widow of S. A. Jackson, the man who was killed by Ratliff, was also present, accompanied by her mother-in-law, Mrs. Sue Jackson. These ladies were dressed in deep mourning. There were many other ladies, friends of the Jackson family present.

After the testimony had closed, the state's attorney read the instructions that Judge Campbell was to present to the jury, they were accepted by the jury for the defense. There was a few minutes quiet while the attorneys were preparing to begin their arguments. Ratliff sat in the meantime in a very meditative mood, with his little child, about 4 years old, on his lap. Every available space in the house was crowded. The judge, after due meditation, excluded the greater offense named in the indictment, that of murder, and that left the crime as described in the indictments, assault and battery with intent to kill. W. A. Hudson, for the state, made the opening speech. He spoke an hour and made a masterly address. He was followed by Hon. W. McCool and J. A. Armistead, for the defense, ex-congressman C. L. Anderson, for the state, and Hon. J. P. Allen and S. L. Dodd, for the defense. The state's attorney closed for the state, and the case was given to the jury.

Court adjourned at midnight. Judge Campbell, announcing that an extra session will be held at 2 a. m. Monday to receive the finding of the jury.

COCKRAN WITH WILSON.
San Antonio Disappointed in Not Hearing a St. Patrick's Day Oration.

San Antonio, Tex., March 17.—Hon. Bourke Cockran was expected to arrive here today from Mexico and deliver an address at the St. Patrick's day celebration given here to-night, but he failed to appear. In appearance much to the disappointment of large crowds of people who had gathered at the Grand opera house to hear him. Private advices were received stating that Mr. Cockran and Congressmen Wilson are on their way to San Antonio from Guadalajara, travelling by easy stages. They will probably reach here tomorrow.

VANCE STILL UNWELL.
The Senator Reaches Jacksonville From Suwannee Springs.

Jacksonville, Fla., March 17.—Senator Zeb Vance, of North Carolina, reached here last night from Suwannee Springs, where he has been for his health. The senator was quite unwell when he reached the city, but was feeling somewhat better today. He will remain here until he becomes stronger.

Rider Hazard is coming to this country to give public readings. It is also rumored that certain English literary men are contemplating the same step.

OCALA'S ORANGE GROWERS.

An Organization For Mutual Protection Perfected.

Ocala, Fla., March 17.—The orange and truck growers in and around Ocala held a well attended meeting in the court house today. C. M. Brown was made chairman and Dave Williams secretary. Of the 140 orange and truck growers residents and non-residents in and around Ocala about half were present, with instructions that the majority of absent ones be enrolled. Messrs. Buckalew, George Moore, F. C. Bulfinch, F. T. Monroe, H. W. Long, and others made remarks. When the club was organized Gen. Bullock was called on for a speech. He paid a high compliment to Mr. Bulfinch for the work he had done in this connection, and this movement and referred to the confidence he (Bulfinch) had that by uniting the orange growers reasonable transportation rates could be secured. The general did not agree quite with his friend, and thought the only effective thing to do was to canvass the country and secure a legislature that would provide for a state railroad commission, a fair, just and equitable one, with a representative railroad man in the body. Gen. Bullock touched on the address lately issued by prominent democrats, which he signed, in which this reform was urged and then spoke of the attitude of some of the papers of the state towards the signers, calling them meddlesome, office-seekers, and so on. He said that the Democratic party repudiated all these base insinuations and said his motives were of the purest and best, and he only desired that those whose industries created the principal crops of the country and the bulk of the commodity transported should be treated fairly and equitably. He particularly referred to the editor of the Ocala New Capital, and a criticism on a criticism on the signers and urgers of the reform address. He characterized the sheet as a "big lie," and its editor as a "big liar," which figure of speech fairly convinced the house.

MANCHESTER'S MARKET.
Business Increasing, But Not What It Ought to Be.

Manchester, March 17.—The reports as to the state of trade are conflicting; more business is doing, but there is still less than the production. Prices are irregular and generally weaker.

Yarns are plentiful, and the position is not relieved. There are no home sales beyond actual needs. Stocks are heavy, and occasional large lots of yarns are taken for export transactions of little importance.

Cloths are more cheerful and though the buyers' list is not very satisfactory offers are numerous and a fair number have been accepted, where the order books need replenishing for India and China. An early revival of Brazilian business is expected. Home trade is good on deliveries on old contracts, but new orders are infrequent. Spinners are working margins closer than for several years past, and an informal curtailment of production is extending.

Liverpool cotton operators are bullish; but they are paralyzed by a disproportionate distribution of the crop.

SHAKEN BY EARTHQUAKES.
Great Excitement Among the People of Tehuantepec.

Iaxaca, Mex., March 17.—Advices were received here today from the Isthmus of Tehuantepec stating that there is great excitement among the people of that section over the repeated and severe earthquake shocks that have occurred there during the past few days. The disturbances have occurred daily, and are growing in severity. Some of the shocks lasted twelve seconds and caused great damage to buildings in some of the smaller towns on the Pacific coast side of the isthmus.

Mr. E. F. Lovell has completed his plans for the erection of a handsome brick residence at the corner of Fifth and Bull streets. Mr. Henry Urban is the architect and work will begin at once. The estimated cost of the residence will be about $20,000. It will be one of the handsomest residences in the city. The building will be two stories, with a mansard roof. Below the cornice will be a handsome cement frieze, similar in design to the frieze of the building at the corner of Bull and Fifth streets. The house will be stuccoed, and the trimming will be of Tennessee brick. Spacious piazzas will be built, and in the tower will be a fine view of the city. The interior will be replete with everything that will tend to make the residence one of comfort and convenience.

THE ATLANTA CONFERENCE.

What Some of the Committee Say About It.

Aldermen Herman Myers and William Bohan, and Messrs. Edward Karow, J. P. Williams, John R. Young, A. Vetsburg, Samuel Meinhard and William Kehoe returned yesterday morning from Atlanta, where they attended the conference between the city's representatives and the executive board of the Southeastern tariff association relative to fire risks in Savannah, and ratification of insurance. Chairman Cann and Alderman Dixon remained in Atlanta yesterday, but are expected back today. Capt. Wheaton and Mr. C. H. Dorsett, who accompanied the committee, are also expected to return today. The members of the committee who returned yesterday, said the report in yesterday's Morning News covered the conference fully. The committee was pleasantly received by the members of the executive board of the tariff association, and a conference of several hours was held at the Kimball house.

It is expected that the conference will result in a withdrawal of the increased rate of 25 cents per hundred. A thorough examination into the equipment and management of the fire department is to be made by some disinterested party, and the recommendations are to be accepted by four parties. Larger mains are also asked for on Bay street, and in other portions of the city. The city is also required by the conference to enact such ordinances as will place the chief of the fire department in entire control of his department, and will remove it from political influence. A building ordinance is also asked for.

Figures were presented by the officers of the tariff association to show that the business in Savannah for the last ten years has been a losing one. "It was on this ground solely that they based their presumptions," said a member of the committee yesterday. They made a strong argument and we could not help but acknowledge that many things they said were true. For instance the lack of fire walls in Savannah is painful and deplorable, and we could not dwell upon this in the conference. I am satisfied of one thing, however, and that is that this conference will result in good to the city and in a general improvement upon the present fire conditions.

John Johnson was on trial in the city court yesterday for stealing a chicken from the store of J. C. Slater. When asked what kind of chicken Johnson stole one of the witnesses said it was a fat one, one of them Tattal county chickens. He took the latter.

The site for the proposed new United States court house and postoffice. The government afterwards bought the site of the old Guard's armory, corner of Bull and Whitaker, and York and President streets, and the new building is to be built there some day. It was expected that the treasury department would hold on to the old site and utilize it for the proposed marine hospital building, but that plan appears to have been abandoned.

FLEMING DUBIGNON TALKS.

He is Satisfied of Judge Turner's Popularity.

From the Atlanta Journal, March 15.

Mr. Fleming Dubignon, the brilliant South Georgia statesman, came to the city today on business. He is here to have a consultation with the auditor of the Southern Express Company, who arrives in the city today from Chattanooga.

Mr. Dubignon declined an interview on the senatorial matter, but said: "That will come later. I shall not talk on that subject for publication just at present."

Mr. Dubignon had something to say, however, on the subject of a recent paragraph in the Savannah Press, in which it was claimed that his friends had claimed the recent meeting at Thomsville indorsed Judge Turner for the senatorship was inspired by the congressman himself. He said that he knew nothing about it beyond what has been published. He was disappointed to regard the meeting as an evidence in proof of the high esteem and regard in which the people of that section hold Mr. Turner.

He said that there could be no doubt of Mr. Turner's great popularity among those whom he had represented in congress, nor of the fact that he merited their good opinion. Mr. Dubignon added that he himself regarded Mr. Turner as one of the best and purest men in public life, and that he had no idea that the meeting of his friends was inspired by him, or that he had anything to do with it.

Mr. Dubignon is looking remarkably vigorous and healthy. During the interview he was in the office of Hon. Tinsley Rucker, who is a close friend of Mr. Dubignon.
